

TIGER CRUISE

“HORNE Tigers” was the name given to 52 lucky fathers, sons, brothers, and friends of HORNE crew members who met the ship in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, for an unforgettable seven-day transit back to San Diego during the last week of our deployment.

It provided the opportunity to observe first hand life on board a U.S. Navy ship. Time was spent touring the major work centers on board, observing special demonstrations involving the combat systems and damage control plus talking with sponsors and other crew members.

It was the perfect opportunity for Tigers and sponsors alike to renew personal relationships. In the words of one Tiger, “It was a great experience.”
