

The middle of March we returned to San Diego for four weeks of intensive underway training under the watchful eyes of the evaluation teams. Moored alongside out in the "boon-docks of North Island" we simulated the casualties of battle.

FLIGHT DECK "CRASH"

Returning to Long Beach we began a series of rapid-fire public relations projects which included 1,300 Boy Scouts aboard April 27th for a meal in the general mess and a jamboree on our flight deck.

On May 6th we sponsored a one-day "Day in the Navy" cruise for 250 high school journalists followed by our annual "Family Cruise" on May 10th.
